Summary

A lover of software and technology in every way, I am a person with eyes on the future, a future that is built by people who really want to make a difference, in order to be proud of a past generation that brought technology until now.

I am a determined person, who does everything to get what he wants. As for work, I am a person who does everything, and seeks to give his best day after day. I love learning new things and #neverstoplearning is my motto.
